St. Louis has raised $10,630,700, or 20.8 per cent of the city's quota, in the first four days of the Victory Loan campaign, it was announced today. The city's quota is $51,342,000.

St. Louis County, it was announced, has passed the city in percentage, having reached 25 per cent of its quota, or $309,150 of $1,244,150.

The Eighth (St. Louis) Federal Reserve District, in a report covering the first three days of the campaign, is shown as having 20.8 per cent of its quota, the same percentage that the city attained in four days. It is also shown to be in the lead among the 12 Federal Reserve districts, the second being the Boston district, with 16.3 per cent. The St. Louis district quota is $195,000,000, and the amount subscribed to mid-night Wednesday was $40,918,100.

Pershing's Band Coming.

To denote the raising of the first $10,000,000 of the city's quota, an obstruction was prepared this morning on Washington avenue, east of Seventh street, and at noon was crushed by a tank, running west from Fourth street. This barrier was named "Cantigny."

Plane for the visit of the Pershing band, of 110 musicians, to St. Louis, will make today, it was arranged, for an appearance Sunday morning, and will give a free concert in the Municipal Theater, in Forest Park, from 3 to 5 p.m., this being the first park band concert of the season. It will play in Tower Grove Park from 8:30 to 9:30 Sunday night.

The members of the band were drawn from front line units, and the band has played before the heads of the allied governments and armies, and before the peace conference. A drum and bugle corps of 40 pieces, commanded by Capt. Louis N. Fisher, is a striking feature of the organization.

and East of Main Basin.

The Art Hill slope will be the observation point for the tank and trench demonstration to be given in Forest Park at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, as a feature of the Victory Loan campaign.

The trench line is north of the lagoon and east of the main basin. A barbed wire entanglement in front of it and shell holes containing explosives are in front of the wire.

Four battle tanks will advance on the trench, the explosives keeping time to the tanks' progress. Grappling hooks will be thrown from the tanks, to cut away the barbed wire. Machine guns, in the tank turrets, will fire on the trenches.

Capt. M. J. Meyer, a tank officer, who will direct the raid, says explosives will make it dangerous for spectators to get too near the scene. The public will have the job of keeping them back.

Sedanane Due Sunday.

A large bombing seaplane, which the Navy Department has promised to send here, is expected to arrive Sunday, to make daily flights along the river during the remaining two weeks of the campaign. It is intended that it shall give a welcome to the German submarine which is expected to come up the river, and a battle between the U-boat and the plane is planned, the plane dropping pasteboard bombs on the submarine. Later the plane will visit river towns on the Missouri, Ohio and Tennessee rivers.

This plane will be one of the largest ever brought here, and can carry several men and a quantity of explosives. Its wing spread is 80 feet.

Army Signal Officer Reveals How Discovery Was Made of the Tree Top Radio.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Discovery that every tree is a potential wireless tower was made today by Major-General Squier, chief of the signal officer of the army, revealing another war secret and telling how the American army, with a string of stations using tree tops as antennae, read messages from ships at sea and the principal European radio station.

Gen. Squier read a paper before the Psychical Society of America, meeting here. Afterward he took the scientists over to the woods near the bureau and demonstrated a field laboratory erected there for experiments in development of the discovery. He showed how nature's wireless tower was nothing more than a tall tree, preferably eucalyptus, with a small wire netting spread below and an insulated wire hanging from a spike driven near the top.

The paper described how the General began experiments in 1904 with a wire netting growing trees as antennae. His station having been attracted to the success of the discovery during army maneuvers at Camp Atascadero, Cal., that telephone and telephone inoperative with ordinary grounding because of the dry season and unusual character of the soil, became operative when connected with the trunk or roots of a tree.

Like the underground wireless system, the tree top radio, Gen. Rogers, the tree-top radio has been used with perfect results so far only in receiving, but also has been used successfully for transmission over short distances. Radio telephonic messages have been received through trees, transmitted by them into Washington and there transferred to the wire system.

Regrets Efforts of People to Fur-

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Thursday, April 24.—Violence in the promotion of the Nationalist movement in Egypt is deplored by the Foreign Office and the United States, in a note recognizing the British protectorate there, which was communicated Tuesday to Gen. E. H. Allenby, Special High Commissioner for Egypt and the Sudan, by the United States Consul-General at Cairo. The text of the note follows:

"I have the honor to state that I have been directed by my Government to acquaint you with the fact that the President of the United States recognizes the British protectorate over Egypt which was proclaimed by his majesty's Government on Dec. 18, 1914. In according this recognition, the President must of necessity reserve for further discussion details thereof along with the question of the modification of any right which may be entailed in this decision."

"In this connection I desire to say that the President and the American people have every sympathy with the legitimate aspirations of the Egyptian people for a further measure of self-government, but they view with regret any effort to obtain a realization of those aspirations by violence."

138TH EXPECTED TO LAND SUNDAY AT NEWPORT NEWS

Officials Look for Aeolus to Arrive With Other Ships; Regiment May Start West May 1.

139TH'S DEPARTURE WILL BE DELAYED

Regiment Will Parade in St. Joseph and Topeka—Colonel Ristine in a Hospital at Newport News.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 25.—Three shiploads of Missouri and Kansas troops are to arrive here by Sunday and, according to the Naval Department, the regiment carrying all of the 138th (St. Louis) Infantry except the machine gun company, also will arrive that day. If she makes this trip as fast as she did the last one she will arrive Sunday. The machine gun company of the 138th is on the Kroonland, which has been diverted to New York. The company will be sent here at once and the regiment as a unit will start westward from here. Troop movement officers feel that the regiment ought to be on the way by May 1.

The plans for the 139th Infantry were changed today by the War Department. The Missouri contingent was to parade in St. Joseph and the Kansas contingent in Topeka. Under the new plans both contingents will parade in both towns because of the difficulty of separating the men in the companies.

Col. Ristine in Hospital.

Col. Ristine is in a hospital here with a cold, influenza and Mai. Sam G. Clark of Lawrence, Kan., is commanding the 139th. He was informed today that he could not move the troops here until the remainder of the regiment had arrived. This probably will result in the 138th going west first.

The Rhine is to arrive this afternoon with 30 causal officers of the Thirty-fifth Division. The Rainbow Soldiers bring the 117th Field Signal Battalion, a former Missouri National Guard outfit which was with the Rainbow Division, and on Sunday will come the Antigone, Matilda and possibly the Aeolus.

When the steamer Matilda steamed into the harbor at noon yesterday, after an 11-day trip from St. Nazaire, there was a riot of cheers and songs, issuing from the throats of the 300 Missouri boys of the Thirty-fifth Division. The rest of the 139th Infantry, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Carl L. Ristine of Joplin, Mo., and the 128th Machine Gun Battalion, commanded by Maj. Westley Halliburton of Carthage, Mo., were aboard. There were also about 200 sick and wounded men and some casuals. The total number on board was 3344 officers and men.

The 139th Infantry and the 128th Machine Gun Battalion fought near each other on the Argonne. The first unit had 1200 dead and wounded in that battle.

Saint Year Ago Yesterday.

Parts of the 138th Infantry which arrived were field and staff headquarters detachment; sanitary detachment, ambulance and machine gun companies, and companies D, E, F, M, H, I, K, L and M, totaling 62 officers and 2603 men.

The 139th and 128th Machine Gun Battalion returned on the anniversary of their departure from Hoboken, N. J., for France. A number of them commented on the coincidence that it was at 2 o'clock on April 24 that they had been thrilled with the idea of meeting the Flume in battle, and it was at 2 o'clock yesterday that they set foot on native soil again, and began a march which carried them under the city's arch of triumph and to Camp Sturte, where they will remain for several days, going through the preliminaries of discharge before being sent to their home states for parades and demobilization.

The arch of triumph was erected by the people of Newport News at a cost of $15,000. Overhead an inscription reads, "Greeetings to love to those who return, a triumph with tears to those who sleep."

WILSON DENOUNCED BY ITALIAN PAPERS

One Refers to Him as Haughtily Arrogating to Himself Right to Settle Europe's Affairs.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, April 25.—The reply of Premier Orlando to President Wilson apparently has made a deep impression on the Italian press and virtually every Italian newspaper devotes much editorial comment to the Premier's statement.

The Popolare Romano says: "Italy replies as one man to her King and her Government who demand with unswerving tenacity their sacred and impregnable national rights."

After describing the Premier's reply as a proud and thrilling document, the Corriere d'Italia says: "The American people cannot be in agreement with a man who so haughtily arrogates to himself the right to decide the fate of Europe against the desires of its governments and its peoples."

The Idea Nazionale declares that not one Italian would dare to sign a peace as proposed by President Wilson.

The Italia considers that President Wilson has perhaps irretrievably jeopardized the peace of the world.

Paris Temps Says Spirit of Conciliation Is Necessary.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 25.—The differences between the United States and Italy must be commented on in a spirit of conciliation," says the Temps in an editorial. "The French Government, with the British, have striven to the utmost for four days to prevent the explosion. It has searched for a compromise, which, perhaps, would have been easier to find had the Italians continued to participate in the deliberations. It has endeavored to delay publication of President Wilson's document."

The Temps then describes the present situation of the Adriatic problem, which, it says, in no way concerns Germany, and hence the signing of the peace treaty by the German plenipotentiaries need not be delayed.

"If Premier Orlando returns to Rome," the newspaper continues, "his collaborators can remain here, so that Italy can sign the treaty. The treaty with Austria-Hungary remains to be drawn up. The text of the 1915 treaty must represent the offensives of Italy, which was not bound, but merely relied on reason and justice, upon which Italy's claims were based."

"I consider as unjustified the application that, in his statement, President Wilson makes of his principles toward the Italian claims," Premier Orlando continues. "It is impossible for me in the detailed arguments which have been produced in Italy's behalf, I might simply say that no one will receive without reserve the affirmation that the collapse of the Austro-Hungarian empire should imply the reduction of Italian aspirations."

Italy's Natural Borders.

Citing the President's argument that the concessions granted bring Italy to its natural defenses, the Alps, Signor Orlando says:

"This recognition is of great importance, provided the eastern flank of this wall does not remain open and that the right of Italy should be respected to include the line of Monte Nevo, which separates the waters running toward the Black Sea and the Mediterranean."

He recalls that the Latins from the earliest dawn of Italian history designated this mountain the "Italian limit."

"Without this protection," says the Premier, "a dangerous breach is left in this admirable barrier of the Alps, rupturing the unquestionable political, economic and historical unity of the Istrian peninsula. I contend, furthermore, that he who is entitled to the honor of proclaiming to the world the right of Italy, the nation of peoples, should recognize this right for Flume, an ancient Italian city which proclaimed its Italian nature before the Italian ships arrived—an admirable example of national conscience perpetuated throughout centuries."

"To deny this right only because of the small number concerned would mean the admission that the criterion of justice toward peoples varies according to their territorial extent."

International Ports.

Premier Orlando then pointed out that Ancona, Genoa and Rotterdam are international ports, serving as an outlet to diverse peoples and territories without having to pay for the privilege by sacrificing national conscience, and continues:

"It is impossible to qualify as excessive the Italian aspirations to extend the Dalmatian coast, Italy's boudoir, throughout centuries, which Roman genius and Venetian activity made noble and grand, and whose Italian character defying for centuries implacable persecutions, still shares the same thrill of patriotism with the Italian people."

The practice of addressing nations directly constitutes surely an innovation in international relations. I do not wish to complain, but I wish to record it as a precedent, that at my own time I may follow it, in as much as the Italian plenipotentiaries constitutes the granting to nations of larger participations in international questions, and personally I have always been of the opinion that such participation was the harbinger of a new order of things."

"Nevertheless, if these appeals are to be considered as addresses to nations outside of the Governments which represent them (I might say even against the Governments), I should feel deep regret in recalling that this process, heretofore applied to the judgment of the conference.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 25, 1919.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

FIVE YEARS FOR TWO YOUTHS

With Companion They Held Up and Robbed a Man.
 Joseph Stetson, 18 years old, of 334 North Market street, and William F. Schanz, 20, of 3622 Garfield avenue, were found guilty of highway robbery by a jury in Judge Taylor's division of the Circuit Court yesterday, and were each sentenced to five years in the reformatory.

SIMON WOULD CLEAN UP ST. LOUIS DEMOCRACY

Leader Presents Plan for Complete Reorganization of Party in This City.

The existing Democratic City Committee is likened to a tree revivification, "decayed in its trunk, but with a few living limbs and beyond resurrection," says Dr. John H. Simon, Democratic party leader, who defeated Sanders Norvell for the mayoralty nomination in 1914. In outlining his plans for a reorganization of the party in St. Louis,

In the reorganization the present committee, he says, must be completely ignored, and no committee allowed to hold any sort of office in the new organization for at least two years.

Democratic club with a minimum membership of 200, with a young men's auxiliary, and with a subscription list for each member of $10 a month, with no dues and the selection of a president for the club of a man who, by a majority of the votes shall be recognized as a "natural leader," are among other things Dr. Simon says, are necessary for the success of the party here.

To Much Bickering, He Says.
 Among other things pertinent to this subject, Dr. Simon says, too much party bickering among Democrats resulted in the "reading out" of the party of real good men. He says the Republican party in St. Louis is replete with the names of "prominent ex-Democrats."

The changing of the primary law in order to assure the voters of an absolute honest count in elections is another feature advocated by the doctor.

Certain factions of the Democrats in St. Louis recently started a movement boosting Samuel Lazarus for the next mayoralty nomination. Simon was accused of one of the natural leaders of the party, and "threw a monkey wrench into the machinery" when he refused to have anything to do with a reorganization of the party so long as the present City Committee should have a finger in the pie. He insisted on starting the reform from the "ground up."

To the Post-Dispatch reporter Dr. Simon said:

"To reorganize the Democratic party in St. Louis one thing is essential. The political past must bury its dead. There must be no factional feuding, no backroom dealing, upon which the superstructure is to be erected. Therefore, there must be no memory of wrongs done or hopes blighted. This is basic and fundamental. Unless we can start on these premises we need not build at all."

"The new organization must be new from the ground up. The City Central Committee, as a committee, must be ignored. There are some good committeemen and these must be recognized as citizens and Democrats, but not as parts of the inadequate old machine. No committeeman should hold any office in the new organization, at least for the first two years. The organization which is hastily constructed of old committeemen would fail to inspire the rank and file with confidence. A tree which is decayed in its trunk but still shows a few living limbs cannot be revived. It must be cut down. We want new growth—healthy and vigorous."

His Plan for a Club.

"A club should be formed at once having a permanent home, with social and intellectual entertainment to make it attractive. The average man wants social intercourse and the idea of cold, business-like downtown office, open only during the day time, is the destiny of the Hart Schaffner & Marx suit. It is a few, is repugnant to him. He wants a voice in the party deliberations and wants to see what is going on."

"Two hundred Democrats should subscribe $10 a month each for two years, which would assure an income of $2000 per month. They should not pay dues during this time. If at the end of two years the club should not be self-sustaining, through its regular subscriptions, the club would not be fit to live and should be disbanded."

"A man is worth just so much to the party as the number of votes he casts for the party. On this theory the man who would become president of the club, an honest count, by the majority of votes cast in open meeting, should be recognized as the natural leader of the party, and should have the loyal support of the whole body."

"Youth must be served. There should be a young men's adjunct to the organization. It should comprise young men of good character from all walks of life, between the ages of 18 and 24 years—in other words, the men who have just become voters and those who soon will vote. Their home should be with the parent organization without payment of rent. They should have their own officers and committees and furnish their own amusements and recreation."

"The officers of the new organization and the ward leaders must have clean records as citizens, whether their following is numerically large or small. What will it profit the party to gain 200 votes through the manipulations of a known police character, in his own ward, when the party loses 2000 votes throughout the city through the stigma of his evil record? We gain a trench and lose a battle."

Wants New Primary Law.

"Without a new primary law all efforts at an honest rehabilitation of the party will be futile, for the old committee, in some wards, with the same old methods as heretofore will steal the elections. Hence, judges and clerks of election should be chosen by lot with compulsory service, just as our jurors are selected, so that a resident of the Third Precinct, Twenty-eighth Ward,

CAPT. CHAMBERLAIN RECOUNTS FLYING EXPLOIT AT HIS TRIAL

"It May Read Like a Fairy Tale, but on My Oath It Is True."

He Declares.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 25.—"This story may read like a fairy tale, but upon my oath it is true," was a statement made by Capt. Edmund G. Chamberlain of San Antonio, Tex., testifying in his own defense yesterday at the American naval court-martial in connection with his reported exploit on the British front during the fighting last summer.

Capt. Chamberlain related with an abundance of detail the story of the great battle in which the British squadron in which he was flying took part. Describing after bombing expedition over Fismes, where he was positive he brought down two German airplanes in flames and two other enemy machines of which he was uncertain, he said, he became separated from the squadron because of engine trouble and came down between the lines, where he captured one German soldier and succeeded in bringing in a wounded French officer.

He made his report of the flight at the request of the British officer commanding the squadron, he said. "I could not tell him the truth," he declared, "so I lied." He then asked him for the report, as he was liable to court-martial for permitting the American aviator to fly in a British machine. Capt. Chamberlain gave a vivid description of the battle in the air and of how he captured the German with a compass torn from his broken airplane. He demonstrated this method in court by picking up a compass from ings, causing a loss of about $150,000. Several other buildings were damaged.

GOVERNMENT PLANS TO ENFORCE WAR DRY ACT

Brewers Will Be Prosecuted if Constitutionality of Law
Is Upheld.By the Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 25.—The Government proposes a literal enforcement of the war-time prohibition act, including a ban on production and sale of all beers and wines, whether or not they are intoxicating, the Department of Justice announced through a special representative in the Federal court here yesterday.

While no steps will be taken to prevent brewing, pending a court determination on the law's constitutionality raised by brewers of the New York district, manufacturers will operate in peril of future prosecution, according to William C. Fitts, special counsel for Attorney-General Palmer in the beer litigation.

The attorney addressed Judge A. N. Hand, who heard arguments on the Government's motion to dismiss the suit, brought on behalf of the national brewing interests by the Jacob Hoffman Brewing Co. to restrain the Federal authorities from interfering with its production of two and three-quarters per cent beer, that the Department of Justice did not know and did not care whether the strength indicated was intoxicating.

"Word Beer Not Qualified.

The law prohibited sale after June 30 of distilled beverages as well as manufacture after April 30 and sale after June 30 of "beer," "wine" and other intoxicating malt or vinous liquors for beverage purposes," pending the demobilization of the military forces, he said. The words "beer" and "wine" were not qualified in the opinion of the Government, he added, and the apparent original intention to stop the waste of grains and fruits in their productions in any strength would be enforced.

"With half the world looking to America for food," Fitts contended, the necessity of its conservation was greater even than on the day of Chateau-Thierry, and it was equally essential that liquors be withheld from public sale while the army and navy were undergoing demobilization.

To this statement Judge Hand added his opinion that the war was still in progress, which upset one of the complainant's contentions.

Root Argues for Brewers.

Following Elihu Root, who argued that the prohibition law did not apply to beer which was not intoxicating (in which class the brewers rate the two and three-quarters per cent product) and that the act, having been passed after the signing of the armistice and the expiration of the war emergency, was unconstitutional, Fitts contended that the act was wholly within the powers of Congress. He argued that an injunction sought by the Hoffman company to restrain the Federal District Attorney and the Collector of Internal Revenue from beginning proceedings to interfere with its production of a two and three-quarter per cent brew be denied.

On the admission of William D. Guthrie, associate counsel for the complainants, that he had no proof of alleged threats by District Attorney Caffey to prosecute the brewers, Judge Hand said he thought Caffey should be eliminated as a defendant. Guthrie argued for a determination by the Court of the question of whether District Attorney might be entitled to conduct prosecutions in violation of criminal laws whose validity was in doubt, and declined to withdraw the District Attorney's name from the complaint.

Alcoholic Content.

Supplementing Guthrie's admission, District Attorney Caffey announced that he had never threatened to begin prosecutions under the emergency prohibition act. He added that he did not propose any action along this line until the Court had been given time to consider the litigation in progress. Should there be any change in his attitude, he said, he would address the Court and then the brewers' counsel.

The litigation was discontinued as affecting threats of the Internal Revenue Department to prosecute manufacturers of a 2½-per-cent beer up to April 30, when the Government counsel admitted that Commissioner Roper had erred in ruling under the food conservation laws that beer of one-half of 1 per cent or greater alcohol content was intoxicating, and so could not be manufactured under the Prohibition proclamation permitting production of beer.

None but a Court had authority to pronounce a beverage intoxicating or the opposite, Fitts said, and cited the Commissioner's recent order permitting brewing of the 2½-per-cent beverage as a confession of his mistake. Until last month, when the New York brewers questioned the validity of the ruling, none but the ½-per-cent brew had been sent out to the trade, except that made before Dec. 1, 1917, when the President prohibited all brewing as a conservation measure, following his decree of 11 months earlier limiting the alcoholic content to 2½ per cent.

"Don't Waste Any Grain."

Arguing for the constitutionality of the war-time prohibition act, Fitts declared that Congress, in providing funds with which the Secretary of Agriculture was to carry out food conservation measures, said to him:

"And while you are doing it, don't waste any grain making beer or any fruit making cider."

All beers and wines were included in the prohibitory, he contended, to prevent opening of "blind tapers" and operation of "bootleggers" through which intoxicants would be sold to soldiers and sailors under the guise of nonintoxicating drinks.

STATE OFFICIALS
AGREE ON $500,000
INCREASE IN TAXSENATE VOTES FOR
1 PER CENT INCOME
TAXChairman of Ways
Means Committee Declares
Revenue Will Still Short After All Completed Action.By a Staff Correspondent of the Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 25.—Senator William M. Bowker of Cole County, chairman of the Senate Committee on Ways and Means, made it known that the three members of the State Board of Equalization, who have persistently refused to assess property in Missouri in accordance with the law, have determined to increase assessments throughout the state an average of from 25 to 50 per cent.

It is understood at the Capitol that the action is to be as arbitrary as has been their previous revenue assessments, but it has not yet been known whether the increase will fall on the entire state or be directed toward St. Louis and other larger cities.

$500,000 More Revenue.
Senator Bowker said that approximately $500,000 of additional revenues would be derived from increased taxes, which, he said, Attorney-General McAllister, Secretary of State Sullivan and Treasurer Dickson had decided upon.

These three officials for the year have resisted efforts of Gardner and Auditor Gandy to have the Board of Equalization follow the recommendations of the Tax Commission, which report favored assessments at approximately actual value and in accordance with the plain letter of the law. The assessment which they now decided to make will not affect property such as the law stipulates and requires that make, as it will still be far below the actual value of property, which, in the rural sections of the state, is assessed at an average not more than 40 per cent of value, and in many counties at 20 per cent.

Senator Bowker made known his decision of the state officials to increase the tax on the floor of the Senate on an increase in the state tax on one-half of 1 per cent.

"The condition of the state's finances absolutely requires that the increase be made," he said. "The legislature already has killed a measure designed to replace $2,000,000 of revenue which will close the gap in the state when the session closed."

"We must have revenue or we will be unable to properly care for educational and eleemosynary institutions of the state."

"Trying to Do Best We Can."

There are several Senators who know that the State Board of Equalization has decided that it will increase assessments from 20 to 50 per cent. This will mean about $500,000 in additional revenue. The increase in the income tax will be about $1,000,000 additional, the soft drink franchise about $400,000. Even with the increase the Governor will be called to veto some salary bills possibly some of the appropriate money which state officials actually need. We are trying the best we can for the state.

"Already the Legislature has refused to pass the mortgage reorganization tax, which was expected to yield several hundred thousand dollars. The weights and measures tax on sand and gravel, in addition, it has exempted railroads and educational institutions from paying the inheritance tax, which will be a big loss in revenue."

The Senate voted to increase income tax, but the action of the House is problematical, as there is considerable opposition to it. Senator Bowker later told Post-Dispatch correspondent with the passage of the state's income tax, the corporation franchise tax and the soft drink tax had "washed his hands" of the measures. He said he would support the passage of the tax on a permanent admissions, the tax on the tax on toilet preparation tax. "I do not believe we should shorten taxes," the Senator said, "so far as I am concerned, those will not be pushed."

As he is chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, there is little possibility that other revenue bills will be passed without his active support.

The Senate passed the House inheritance bill, under which educational and religious institutions are exempt from taxes on bequests of $10,000 or less.

PUBLISHERS' BOARD
DIRECTOR REPLIES TO BURLESON

Declares Postmaster-General Must Defend Himself for "Incapacity and Reckless Malevolence."

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 25.—Replying in a statement last night to the charge of Postmaster-General Burleson that he is the victim of an "odd propaganda," Charles Johnson Post, director of the publishers' advisory board, declared that it was not the publishers of the country who needed defense, but the Postmaster-General himself. He asserted that demoralization of the postal service was a fact which every business man and American home was able to judge out of their own experience.

The publishers' advisory board consists of the Periodical Publishers' Association of America, the Associated Business Papers, Incorporated, the American Medical Editors' Association, the New York Medical Publishers' Association, the Agricultural Publishers' Association, the Religious Press Association, Allied Printing Trades' Council and the Authors' League of America.

"Mr. Burleson has established the record of an official," Post said, "who must defend himself before the bar of public opinion for demonstrated incapacity and reckless malevolence. His amazing official statement, in his own defense, following his refusal to transmit the newspaper dispatch of the New York World because such dispatch reflected on his incapacity, is a challenge to every serious thinking American, even though he issued such order the following day that such a Russian and vicious one-man censorship can be established in the postoffice by Mr. Burleson or anyone else reveals a menace to our social and American ideals far beyond Mr. Burleson's point that he thinks that he has been criticized too harshly.

Merits of Postal Service.
"Whether the postal service is good or bad is not a matter of argument or of Mr. Burleson's personal opinion. The public knows from its own experiences suffered day by day, from the camps in France to the commerce of Frisco, and as evidenced by the impartial investigations and resolutions of the most reliable business organizations of the country.

"What Mr. Burleson theretofore calls organized propaganda is the expression of sentiment of hundreds and hundreds of responsible business organizations, with their many thousands of business members, chambers of commerce, educational institutions, labor organizations, religious organizations and cultural organizations that have formally condemned the various inefficient postal methods and principles which he champions.

"Mr. Burleson in his statement of today, with every evidence of deliberateness, endeavored to give the public the impression that there is an annual postal deficit in the Postoffice Department of $70,000,000, and that under the postal zone system it will still be $50,000,000 per annum. In his own signed reports since 1916 there appear postal surpluses over and above all expenditures as follows: 1916, $5,829,236.67; $9,836,211.90; 1918, $19,979,798.08.

Surplus During War.
"And these surpluses, mind you, during a war period when the volume of mail matter of the United States Governmental departments—carried also at free of cost—was greater than at any period in the entire history of the country; that the franked mail of Congressmen, consisting of millions of pieces, and hundreds of thousands of packages of free seeds and free letters, keeping their political fences mended, are carried without a penny of cost, as well as over 58,000,000 pounds of privately owned county newspapers carried free of any postage whatsoever in the county of publication.

"No organization, however malevolent, its purposes could ever have dictated the Postmaster General in the public mind and in the way and to the degree his own acts and incapacities have dictated him. He is typical of a phase that thoughtful Americans deplore and hoped had passed. The fact that his personal fortunes were interwoven with the abominable convict labor system, with its convict whippings, does not conform to what we like to think are typical American ideals.

"His contemptuous disregard of the employees in the Postoffice Department and his hostility to their organization and to organized labor in general does not conform to typical American ideals. His reckless censorship, which culminated in his refusing the use of the telegraph wires for a news dispatch of the New York World because it reflected upon him does not conform to typical American ideals. His reviving of the postal zone system abolished by Abraham Lincoln and also condemned by United States postal commissions does not conform to typical American ideals.

Postal Zone Law.
"He specifically upholds the vicious and un-American postal zone law, with its unfair postage increases against distant American communities and alleges that the publishers of the country, newspapers and periodicals, are engaged in a plot to ruin him. Those whom Postmaster-General Burleson is attacking by means of the zone law are not publishers, but they are the reading men and women, the reading homes of this nation. For by this postal zone law he demands that any periodical shall cost more in postage to an American reader because of, and in proportion to, that reader's accidental remoteness from any point of publication. And when public-spirited and representative organizations, such as the A. F. of L., the Merchants' Association of New York, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National Grange, the National Education Association and hundreds of others protest, he says that such expression of opinion does not have its real purpose any desire for improvement in the postal or wire service, but is intended to aid in accomplishing a reduction of the rates of postage on second-class mail (newspapers and magazines). On the contrary, the publishers of the country are fighting in order that every American shall pay the same postage for the same American periodical or newspaper, no matter where he happens to live. Publishers are fighting for equal postage to every American everywhere."

Following is a Burleson statement of yesterday:

"There are over 10,000 telephone and telegraph companies in the United States furnishing service to the public. The Postmaster-General has had controversy or even an unpleasant experience with only one—the Postal Telegraph-Cable Co. The remainder are working harmoniously and in a spirit of co-operation with the Postmaster-General and his organization. The Postal Telegraph Co. is also the only company so far as ascertained whose sworn statements before the Interstate Commerce Commission as to receipts, disbursements, value of property and depreciation reserves are in conflict with their sworn statements to the Postmaster-General.

"The bitter attitude of its officials can only be attributed to the fact that its dealings with the postal establishment made it necessary to disclose the fact that its records have been so kept as to prevent the state tax officials of the various states from access to figures showing the value of the property subject to local taxation as presented in their sworn statements to the Postmaster-General. And its refusal to go to the court of claims cannot be explained on any theory other than a fear to support these statements in court and to make further exposure of actual facts."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 25.—The workmen's compensation bill was passed by the House late yesterday by a vote of 125 to 4 in debate. The bill, a substitute to the original House measure, presented by the Senate committee, permits players to carry their insurance companies.

The basis of compensation is two-thirds of the average weekly wage to exceed $15 a week, how to be less than $6. Administered by the State Commission of four to be no less than the Governor. It already has passed by the Senate and is to be signed by Gov. Gardner for approval.

Features of the bill passed by the commission include the bipartisan and one man to represent the employees and the employers. Members of the commission shall be honorably charged soldiers, sailors and marines.

The commissioners shall receive $400 a year and will be immediately after adjournment of the General Assembly.

While the measure provides the immediate organization commission, the bill does not come into effect until Nov. 1. Medical aid, first eight weeks, will exceed $200, the employee paying the physician, but the having privilege to choose his own expense.

Compensation is on basis of per cent of the wages, and the payment shall be on the basis of average annual earnings.

Temporary total disability exceeds 400 weeks, and partial disability, two-thirds wage loss, not exceeding 200.

Permanent partial disability additional to all other compensation, for a period varying according to nature and extent of injury.

The pension for permanent disability is two-thirds of 240 weeks and thereafter cent of wages for remainder.

Death burial benefit of every case is provided total amounts to receive two-thirds of 300 weeks.

Wood Praises Measure

R. T. Wood, president of the Local Federation of Labor, Post-Dispatch reporter, told the workmen's compensation bill is more liberal. It is for the employees in any state in the country, in New York and North Dakota he did not believe the existing trades unions of St. Louis, Kansas City would endorse the referendum. He pointed out any employee may be exempted operation of the law by filing of rejection with the court and employers.

CCompensation Bill READY FOR GOVERNOR

Senate Substitute Passed by the House by Vote of 125 to 4; Attempt to Amend Fails.

See the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 25.—The workmen's compensation bill was passed by the House late yesterday by a vote of 125 to 4 with little debate. The bill, a substitute for the original House measure, prepared by the Senate committee, permits employers to carry their insurance in private companies.

The basis of compensation is to be two-thirds of the average wage—not to exceed $15 a week, however, nor to less than $5. Administration of the law will be placed in the hands of a commission of four to be named by the Governor. It already had been passed by the Senate and now goes to Gov. Gardner for approval.

Features of Measure.

Features of the bill passed include: The compensation commission shall be bipartisan and one member shall represent the employees and another the employers. Members of the commission shall receive $1000 a year, and shall be appointed immediately after adjournment of the General Assembly.

While the measure provides for the immediate organization of the commission, the bill does not become effective until Nov. 1.

Medical aid, first eight weeks, will not exceed $200, the employer choosing the physician, but the employee having privilege to choose a physician at his own expense.

Compensation is on basis of 66 2/3 per cent of the wages, so the compensation shall be on the basis of the average annual earnings.

Temporary total disability will not exceed 400 weeks, and temporary partial disability, two-thirds of the wage loss, not exceeding 200 weeks.

Permanent partial disability, in addition to all other compensation, pays for a period varying according to nature and extent of injury.

The pension for permanent total disability is two-thirds wages for 240 weeks and thereafter 40 per cent of wages for remainder of life.

Death burial benefit of $100 in every case is provided total dependents to receive two-thirds of wages for 30 weeks.

Seven-day waiting period with compensation from first, if less than six weeks.

Bill does not cover agricultural and domestic pursuits of less than five employees.

Although employee and employers are presumed to be operating under the act, they may elect whether or not to come under its provisions.

4 Republicans Against Bill.

Comer of St. Louis, Parr of St. Charles, Weatherman of Tane and Speer of Bollinger, Republicans, voted against the bill.

Representatives Bitner, Brinkman, Caulfield, Eigel, Horner, Parker, Rubenking and Trebilcot, Republicans of St. Louis, voted against the bill, then roll call and then changed their votes. Byrne of Buchanan and McCray of Caldwell also changed from "nay" to "aye."

An attempt to amend the bill to exempt workers of the building trades from its provisions was defeated by a vote of 15 for and 107 against.

Wood Praises Measure.

R. T. Wood, president of the Missouri Federation of Labor, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that the workmen's compensation bill passed is more liberal in its provisions for the employee than any law now in force in any state except New York and North Dakota. He said he did not believe the building trades unions of St. Louis and Kansas City would undertake to support operation of the bill in referendum. He pointed out that any employee may be exempted from operation of the law by filing notice of rejection with the commission and employers.

The law provides that an employer may be exempted by filing notice, but, if he does so, he yields his right to set up the defense of contributory negligence or any of the other common law defenses in personal injury cases.

demands that you save in order to possess these Fifth (Victory) Loan Bonds.

It is no matter of duty, sacrifice or a loyal holding up the arms of a nation that our armies may prevail.

It is plain canny investment.

There is no question of this loan's "going over"—all you have to look out for is getting in for all you can possibly take care of.

Pay for them out of your future earnings. This is proper economics.

The more individual holders of these Fifth Bonds there are, the better for you as an individual American.

Keep all the bonds you have now.

—and buy all you can carry of this Victory issue!

—it's the best yet.

This is part of the space we are devoting to further a broad distribution of the Victory Loan.

FOCH WRITES SUMMARY OF AMERICAN EFFORT

Shows in Magazine Article How Our Speeding Up Contributed to Victory.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, April 24.—Marshal Foch has given to the magazine France-Amerique a concise statement of the "final effort" of the American forces in France. Its value lies in its military clearness and brevity. It summarizes better than anything hitherto published the high idea which the allied supreme command holds regarding America's part in the war.

"On March 11," says Marshal Foch, "the American army in France numbered only 300,000 men, or six infantry divisions. They were in training, mostly theoretical, averaging per month... On March 21 the German offensive began at the junction of the allied armies in the region of St. Quentin. The enemy soon reached the River Scarpe and advanced up to the Somme, which he crossed and descended to the valley of the Oise. The situation was suddenly very serious. On this critical day, March 28, Gen. Pershing and Bliss came and generously offered to lead their divisions into battle, both saying to me: 'We are here to be killed, go with us and we will be killed.' Afterward, on April 25 at Soissons, we met the same Generals. On May 2 at Abbeville in agreement with the allied Governments we asked the American Government to send to France each month 120,000 infantrymen or machine gunners and complementary troops. As a matter of fact America sent us in March 69,000 men, in April 94,000, in May 200,000, in June 245,000, in July 235,000, and in August 235,000.

"Our offensive contemplated... The American offensive went from 300,000 on March 11 to 654,000 in July and 1,700,000 in October. Moreover, on June 2 the superior war council at Versailles had asked President Wilson to continue the same transport of troops from 200,000 to 300,000 men a month and prepare for the spring of 1919 a total of 100 American divisions. Mr. Wilson had answered that he agreed and if more divisions were necessary they would be provided.

"But, meanwhile the American troops had not been inactive. As early as May two American infantry divisions were in battle with the First French Army in the region of Mont Diddier, three in the Vosges, where they relieved French divisions and two in training. In June two other divisions were at the Marne at Chateau-Thierry and Belleau Wood, where they took a big part in the resistance offered the enemy. On July 15 five American divisions participated in the victorious counter offensive of the Marne, and the First French Army contributed largely to its success. At the same time, on July 24, the First American army was formed. Its task consisted of disengaging the Paris-Nancy communication by driving the enemy from St. Mihiel. On Sept. 12 of 14 American divisions eight were in the first line and six in the second line. They took the St. Mihiel salient with 200 cannon and 15,000 prisoners. A few days later, on Sept. 26, 14 American divisions were engaged in the great offensive between the Aisne and the Meuse across the rough Argonne region. On the second day Montfaucon was passed; on Oct. 14 Grand Pre had been taken; on the 21st Chatillon and Bantville; on Nov. 1, Buzancy; on the 5th, Beaufort, and on the 7th the entire line of the Meuse from Mouzon to Bapaume was in our power.

Great Attack Was Planned.
Furthermore at the same time two American divisions collaborated with the Fifth French army towards Reims and other ways with the British armies in the region of St. Quentin. Two more were in cooperation with the Fourth French army that took the formidable Orelif position. Then two American divisions participated in the offensive of the Flanders group on the Lys and Escart. Finally six others were getting ready with the French army for the attack of Nov. 14 in Lorraine when the armistice of Nov. 11 came and disarmed us.

"It is thus that the American army, supported by government thoroughly resolved to pursue the struggle to the end, with Lafayette for the visit he made to the new born America. It is thus that it aided powerfully in securing victory by an armistice which is virtually a surrender—a complete surrender."

MACKENSEN BITTER IN HIS IMPRISONMENT

Marshal, Interned in Southern Hungary, Remains Loyal to Wilhelm.

By CYRIL BROWN.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1919, by Press Publishing Co. (New York World.)

BERLIN, April 24.—Field Marshal von Mackensen is still loyal to the Kaiser, according to Edgar von Schmidt-Pauli, the novelist, who describes as one of the most dramatic of his experiences his last interview with the old soldier, now interned in Count Chotek's chateau, to which he was forcibly transported. During the interview the venerable Field Marshal paced the large drawing room of the chateau, the rays of sunlight pouring in from the order Pour le Mérite on his breastplate.

Every time he turned toward the window, he acted as if he felt he were bound in a cage and that is evidently his feeling toward the chateau, although the Countess Karolyi, cousin of the former ex-Emperor and one of the most beautiful women in Hungary, is there and does all she can to make him forget his situation, inviting him to bridge and for horseback rides and entertaining him in every way possible. The grizzled warrior has not yet comprehended what the revolution means.

complained bitterly that he had been completely forgotten in Germany, and his soldiery temperament was ready to resentment over the fact that he is a prisoner in the country which his troops freed.

"Hungarians Broke Word."

"I cannot get over the thought that the Hungarians broke their word with me," he complained. "Despite Karolyi's assurance that he would transfer my quarters quietly from Arad to Papa, my locomotive was run to Budapest by Hungarian drivers. At the Budapest station I received the word of honor of the Hungarian Major, in the name of Karolyi, that I could board my train again unmolested, but I was molested. I was nevertheless informed at the ministry that I would be interned in Budapest."

"I did not hesitate to show my indignation and declined to remain there in the neighborhood of the French. Then came the proposal of the chateau at Foth, to which I had to accede, under compulsion and protest."

The Field Marshal was greatly embarrassed by reproaches directed at the former Kaiser. "If anyone knows the Kaiser do it," he said. "I know it was ever his desire to enter his eternal rest as the Peace Kaiser, and I know how sorrowfully he made his decision for war."

Shortly after the conversation the Karolyi Chateau was melodramatically surrounded by 300 soldiers, who guarded all the exits. The Field Marshal refused to appear until these troops had been withdrawn. Arabs then entered the place for four days, when the French commander appeared and announced that the Field Marshal must be ready to travel within an hour, threatening force to compel him to do so.

Taken to Southern Hungary. Despite the protest of the Field Marshal's Chief of Staff, Gen. von Mackensen, was carried by automobile to the station, where a train awaited him and his officers. The declared destination was Berlin, but instead the train went into Southern Hungary, to the chateau of Count Chotek.

The place was guarded by wire entanglements and the Marshal was not permitted to communicate with any of the people of the vicinity. He received his mail through a French courier from Budapest. Only gradually were the internment measures relaxed and the barbed wires removed. Now he is permitted to ride horseback.

He is separated from his family. Without definite news of events in the fatherland, the once brilliantly victorious General remains a prisoner. He is almost the last of his entire army, because he refused to quit Hungary soil until all his soldiers had been transported back to Germany.

NAVY'S ATLANTIC Fliers TO BE GUIDED BY CHAIN OF BUOYS

By the Associated Press.

ROCKAWAY BEACH, N. Y., April 25.—When American naval aviators leave New Foundland on their attempt to fly across the Atlantic, of course, it is learned at the naval air station here. These buoys, it is said, have been constructed to emit smoke by day and illumination by night. Twelve men will leave here today to board a supply ship, which will take them to a station along the route selected for the flight. Another group of 12 will leave here tomorrow to board another supply ship.

It is expected the NC-4 will be assembled in time for a test early next week. About this time, it is said, the NC-1, wearing the wings of the NC-2, now dismantled, will be reconstructed.

YOU CAN'T BRUSH OR WASH OUT DANDRUFF

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you do it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid soap; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft. You look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid soap at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—ADV.

ILLINOIS TO SPEND MILLIONS

Measures Passed for Projects Amounting to $40,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 25.—

The Illinois legislature passed the Chicago bill providing for the expenditure of $20,000,000 to construct the Illinois waterways from Lockport to Utica. The measure proposing the building of an eight-foot channel from the Chicago drainage canal to the Illinois River, to open up a lakes-to-gulf water route, was passed by the Senate Wednesday. Both bills now go to the House.

Two other bills of Senator Essing-ton also were passed, one authorizing the issuance of $20,000,000 of bonds for the waterway and another providing for a survey of the Illinois and Michigan canal. The bond issue was approved by popular vote several years ago.

Tank Sergeant Accused.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Accused of using money given to the tank corps reserve to entertain, Sergt. Deliver Newton, formerly associate editor of the tank men's publication Treat 'Em Rough, was arrested yesterday. Newton, formerly employed by the Canfield Oil Co. at San Francisco, insisted the sum involved was small. He wore a necktie and a silk shirt that had cost him $13.50 and $25.

Fearless of shell-fire, singing the Marseillaise, the little French children walk through the war,
went daily to their schools

Do you know that—

100,000 of our public school teachers are only 19 years old?
50,000 of them are without high school education?

The salary of a graduate teacher is no more than that of a milliner's apprentice while she is learning her trade?

The minimum wage for a teacher in New York City is $20 less than the minimum wage of a city stableman?

Is America to lag behind England and France?

Do you realize that America is behind England in the education of its children—behind France—behind Sweden? That educationally we are becoming a second-class power?

While these countries are lengthening
the school age, thousands of our children under 14 are being thrown into the mills and factories. At the very moment when our Supreme Court was deciding that the Federal Government could not act to prevent child labor, England was totally prohibiting the employment in industry of all children of school age.

America is rich enough to give its children as good an education as any nation in the world. And yet—

Not only are thousands upon thousands of American children growing up illiterate
—blind to every kind of print or writing—

But—

The great bulk of American children in school right now—today—are getting an education that is miserably inadequate.

Are 20 million mothers sleeping?

Are America's twenty million mothers asleep? Who is responsible for the children of the country if not the mothers of the country?

Rheta Childe Dorr, in her stirring article, "The Shame of America" sounds the clarion call to every mother, every father, every educator in the country.
She tears the veil aside and reveals the farce of our educational system that does not educate. She goes further than mere criticism. She shows the remedy.

Read this great constructive article in the May number of Pictorial Review.

Hundreds of our grown-up soldiers were illiterate, and had to be taught their letters behind the battle-line.

Do you know that—

For years there have been country schools throughout the West in which the English language was barred out?

Many of our public school teachers can hardly make themselves understood in English?

Thousands of teachers are leaving the schools to enter other professions?
In New York City alone 32,097 children of school age are receiving no instruction?

Does Every Woman Want a Master?

IS IT true that most women like to be bossed by a man? That they don't want to be taken too seriously? That it flatters them to have a man order their lives for them, tell them what they should eat, wear, read, think and know? Or is a lot of this a tradition that has been made and kept up by romantic novelists and by the kind of men who like to bully their wives?

READ "A Fair Field in Sex" by ex-State Senator Helen Ring Robinson in this number of Pictorial Review. It is daring—stimulating—provocative. It will awaken self-questioning in every woman's mind—it is a witty challenge to every man. The first article in a delightful new series,
"What the Women Want."

FIVE SPLENDID SHORT STORIES

Would you commit a crime to save a friend?

When it came to the test, how far would you go for your best friend?
Lend him money—get him a job—stand by him when he is down-and-out, yes. But would you go out and commit a crime, if—well, read "A Double-Barreled Friendship" by Edward S. O'Reilly, and see what you would have done in this man's place.

Love-making based on efficiency methods

Blunderingly, with hopeless inefficiency, the average man makes love. But this man was an exception.
Read how with brilliant business acumen he attacked the complex problems that every lover must face. "Pleasure and Business Mixed" is one of Clarence Budigton Kelland's most delightful stories.

With the shadow of Flanders in his eyes—

And his empty sleeve—he wasn't the same gay, splendid lad she had sent away to France. Life would never be the same again for either of them. And yet—wasn't that wonderful thing he brought back worth the price? This thrilling, moving story, "What They Brought Out," by Norma Patterson, will grip your heart. It is one of the really great stories that has come out of the war.

A girl doesn't have to be pretty—

With her thin little face, her big wistful gray eyes, no one would have looked twice at her. And yet—you think life couldn't have thrilling, wonderful adventures in store for her? Read "Love's Labor" by Agnes Mary Brownell—one of those unexpected romances that lie in wait for people just around the corner.

What was the secret
she hid from him?

The dancer on the beach, with her sea-blue eyes, her light, laughter-loving nature—what was the secret she was strong enough to hide, even while they were facing death together? Rosa Mundi is a wonderful picture of a woman, in the grip of a strong feeling. Ethel M. Dell has written here one of the finest love stories of the year.

Four Full-page Pictures in Full Colors

"The Fight in the Argonne Forest."
Tangled undergrowth as high as a man's head.
Machine guns raining down fire from the tops of trees. It was a death trap—but yet our men pushed on. Here the Lost Battalion—cut off —held against overwhelming odds. Painted by Charles S. Chapman.

"The Charge at Sedan." Our boys in action
—driving the Germans back with that dash and valor that turned the tide of war at Chateau-Thierry, and gave new hope to the Allies. Painted by J. Scott Williams.

All these pictures in full color and ready for framing are included in Pictorial Review for May.

"News From Home." His mother—his wife—his little son—he never knew what their letters could mean until, in some French village 3,000 miles overseas, he waited anxiously while the mail was handed around. The moving human side of war. Painted by S. J. Woolf.

"The Attack on the Base Hospital." The roof in flames. Wounded men who themselves could hardly walk, struggling to drag out their helpless comrades. The Red Cross nurses working on under fire. F. Luis Mora has painted here a great dramatic picture.

roundings—do you feel that life is as interesting, as worth while, as full of freedom and opportu-

How can you get more out of life? In a re-

AUSTRALIA STRONGLY AGAINST JAPANESE

Prides Itself on Being a "White Man's Country;" Hughes Represents Sentiment.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The question has arisen at the American State Department, whether William Morris Hughes, Prime Minister of Australia, correctly represented the sentiment of that British commonwealth when he made his uncompromising and, as it now appears, successful fight against Japan's effort to have a racial equality provision included in the league of nations covenant.

By an American formerly holding official position in Australia, the State Department has been told that Hughes' position with respect to Japan was in exact accord with the views of a great majority of Australians.

The opinion of this American could be supported from the observations of any unprejudiced traveler who has visited Australia in the last four or five years.

Australia is even more set against Japanese immigration, or any other form of recognition of the Japanese, than are the Pacific Coast states of America.

During the war there was the constant fear in Australia that, in the final settlement, Japan would receive concessions prejudicial to what the dominion considered its best interests.

The censorship, stricter in Australia than it ever had been in this country, did not permit this apprehension to be expressed, but it existed as a strong undercurrent of feeling.

It was an unpalatable dose that the dominion had to swallow, when, owing to the exigencies of war, Japanese battleships were detailed to escort Australian troops on the ill-fated expedition to Gallipoli.

Political views as far apart as the poles divide the parties in Australia, but on one question there is agreement: Australia must remain "white." The nation prides itself on the fact that it is a "white man's country." Approximately 97 per cent. of the population of 5,000,000 is British or Australasian born. Writers and speakers of an imaginative turn are fond of picturing Australia as the impregnable stronghold of the white race—the sure haven of white civilization against the yellow tides which may some day threaten to engulf the world.

The fervor with which the average Australian upholds the "white Australia" plank of his national platform is almost religious in its intensity. He has determined that the great island continent of the South Pacific—a continent equal in area to that of the United States—shall be kept in perpetuity for the white race, with as little admixture as possible of the yellow and the black.

Two Practical Reasons.

Aside from the sentimental consideration, there are two practical reasons why the Australians desire to keep free from the race problem such as America faces in the South. America's difficulties with the negro have been greatly exaggerated in Australia, where the idea prevails that life in the South is just one lynching after another.

Australia prefers industrial underdevelopment without a race problem to development with such concomitant evils as she imagines has descended upon this country as one price of its progress.

Australian Literacy Test.
Yellow and black men are kept out of Australia by the imposition of a literacy test under the immigration laws. The examining official requires the intended immigrant to show familiarity with some European language. What language shall be prescribed rests with the official, he may name Portuguese, Russian, French, Spanish or any other. The law, as thus administered, operates effectively to keep out any persons that Australia does not want. Most decidedly she does not want the Japanese on any terms.

Hughes was expelled from his leadership of the Labor party in Australia because of his espousal of conscription, twice beaten at the polls, despite his urgings. His name is anathema to his former colleagues and constituents of the party. But in his opposition to the racial equality proposal he voiced the strong opinion of Australian labor, and, indeed, of the vast majority of Australians of whatever party.

How the People View The New Peace League

The out-and-out opponents of the League of Nations covenant apparently have not been won over by the amendments adopted in Paris to meet their objections. The New York Tribune (Rep.) finds the "denatured covenant" powerless for either good or evil, while the New York Evening Sun (Ind.) goes further and declares that "it is both an all-round invasion of sovereignty and at the same time impotent for the enforcement of peace." In many quarters, however, it is thought that the recognition of the Monroe Doctrine and other changes "will win for it many votes and may prove sufficient to secure its ratification" by the Senate, to quote the Republican Philadelphia Press. It adds that the credit for these changes is due to the constructive criticism of such Republicans as Mr. Taft, Mr. Knox, Mr. Lodge, and Mr. Root.

Be sure and read THE LITERARY DIGEST this week. All angles of public opinion on the League of Nations covenant are presented in the leading article. Other subjects that will interest the American people are:

MORE INTERVENING SUITS FOR RECEIVER FOR U. R. EXPECTED

Judge Dyer Says Lamm Will Pass on Any That May Be Filed When He Resumes Hearings May 19.

With resumption of hearings in the United Railways receivership case set for May 19, before Special Master Lamm, it is expected that many more suits of intervention will be filed. This possibility was suggested by Federal Judge Dyer in an interview with a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday afternoon, soon after he had handed down a decision ordering the consolidation of the Seaman suit and the receivership suit brought by Samuel W. Adler, both cases to be merged under the control of the Seaman master, Judge said.

"I feel that this case is as important as any I have handled in my 11 years on the bench. When the Adler suit was filed I thought all the interests there would be friendly, but I soon found out that various interests were seeking preferences. They kept running to my office.

New Interventions Likely.
I made up my mind to find a man who was not connected with any of the interests and make him receiver. I picked Rolla Wells, and I decided to let him handle the whole matter. Night before last I was engaged in the negotiations on the consolidation of the receivership cases. I went to Wells and asked him if Charles W. Bates would be acceptable to him as his counsel. He replied that Bates was suitable to him and, if Bates also was the selection of the court, that would make him doubly suitable. I appointed Bates as counsel for the receiver on that assurance.

Judge Lamm, the special master, will resume hearings in the receivership suit May 19. He undoubtedly will have many new interventions and he probably will accept them all. I will permit him to rule on all cases that come up in the case prior to his submission of his final report."

Judge Dyer's Decision.

The text of Judge Dyer's decision in ordering the consolidation of the Seaman and Adler cases was as follows:

"The questions now before the Court are whether the Seaman and Adler cases should be consolidated, and if so, whether the Adler case should be consolidated with the Seaman case or the Seaman case consolidated with the Adler case.

"The determining question is one of jurisdiction.

The Seaman case has been pending in the Court since Jan. 7, 1918, and was brought by a stockholder against the United Railways Co. of St. Louis, and its directors and officers, alleging the insolvency of the railway company; the commission of waste, and alleging further actions of the directors and officers continuing for the future waste of the assets of the railway company, and seeks to recover the waste already committed and enjoin the commission of future waste, and alleging further the imminent danger of disintegration of the railway system as a unit by constituent parts of said system being taken over by former owners and operated separately by separate street railway companies, and prays among other things the appointment of a receiver to protect the assets and business of the railways company so that its operations may be continued as an entire system and it be enabled to serve the public as a common carrier of passengers.

Intervening Pleas Filed.
On March 27, 1919, the Leed Mining Co., holder of $305,000 bonds of the United Railways Co. of St. Louis, filed in the Seaman case, likewise alleging waste by the insolvency of the railway company and praying, among other things, for the appointment of a receiver to serve the interests of the creditors and stockholders of said company and to protect the continued operation thereof.

"On April 1, 1919, E. A. Laughlin et al. filed a similar intervening bill in the Seaman case for owners of $135,000 in bonds.

"On the 10th day of April, 1919, Samuel W. Adler, a bondholder by leave of this Court, filed his bill against the St. Louis Transit Co. and the United Railways Co. of St. Louis, the latter being the defendant in the Seaman case, containing some of the same or similar allegations that were theretofore embodied in the Seaman bill and in the bills of the said intervenors, respectively, and praying among other things for the appointment of a receiver and part of the relief asked in the prior case.

"The bill intimated that all of these bills or suits consist of the assets of the United Railways Co. of St. Louis, its continued carrying on of its business, the operation of its railroad in the interest of the stockholders and creditors and of the public, and the relief prayed in all is similar at least in part; at any rate, all having the same general purposes.

"The day that the Adler bill was filed the United Railways Co. of St. Louis filed another concerning its insolvency and the other intervention contained in the Adler bill and joining with Adler in praying for the appointment of a receiver.

"Thereupon, and before the appointment of a receiver in the Adler case, Seaman, Leed Mining Co. and Laughlin et al., the latter two being intervenors in the Seaman suit, filed their motions, respectively, in the Seaman case, setting up by reference the Adler bill as answer of the United Railways Co. of St. Louis and praying for the immediate ap-

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Unpleasant and Dangerous Qualities Removed—New Variety, Called Calctabs, Is Great Favorite With Physicians and Druggists.

The latest triumph of modern pharmacy is the new nauseous calomel known to the drug trade as "Calctabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headache and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the only successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of all medicines to take. One Calotab on the tongue at bedtime, with a swallow of water, that's all. No salts, no griping, no nausea, no danger of salivation. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are finding fine, with a clean body and a big appetite. Eat what you please.

Calctabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your druggist offers to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calctabs.—ADV.

EXHAUSTED WOMEN SHOULD TAKE IRON

"There can be no beautiful, healthy, rayed-back, sturdy woman without iron. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the road to deformity, disease and death is an attractive road. I always insist that my patients take organic iron—natural iron, not calcined iron which often corrodes the stomach and does more harm than good. Iron, when assimilated, does not blacken nor injure the skin nor upset the system. It will increase the strength and endurance of work, nervous, irritable, careworn, pale women, two weeks' time in many cases. I have used it in my own practice for years. hear and determine classes of cases of that service.

"When this matter first came up, my desire to give everyone a fair trial and a fair hearing by an impartial master I went outside of the City of St. Louis and this district to find a man who I believed would administer justice to everyone who depends upon a particular case.

"It is the universal rule, based upon necessity and upon authority, that the court has jurisdiction over a particular subject matter involved in a suit pending in the court and has the parties more it that jurisdiction is exclusive and no other court can assume jurisdiction and no other case in the same court can take away any of the exclusive jurisdiction of the court which inheres in the former case.

"It is for this reason that interventions are permitted and that consolidations of suits in the same court is authorized.

The Working of the Law.

"Equity Rule 97, after providing for parties plaintiff and defendant provides separately for the intervention of anyone claiming an interest in the litigation. Interest in the litigation does not mean an academic interest; in the question of law involved, but necessarily means interest in the object matter of the litigation.

"Section 921 of the Revised Statutes of the United States authorizes a consolidation of causes pending in the same court when such causes are of a like nature or are relative to the same question. There is no requirement that the causes be identical. The phrase 'relative to' the object matter of the litigation and not to an academic question involved in the same.

"Interventions and consolidations are methods of procedure in order to afford to those having an interest in the subject matter involved in a pending suit the opportunity of protecting those interests by coming into that suit, for otherwise the prior suit having exclusive jurisdiction such other parties would be denied justice.

Precedents Cited.

"Consolidations and interventions accomplish the same purpose.

"Central Trust Co. vs. Bridges, 57 Fed. 753, 752.

"The exclusive jurisdiction of the court in the Seaman case does not depend on the court's having appointed a receiver in that case or having taken physical possession of the property.

"Farmers Loan and Trust Co. vs. Lake St. Elevated R. R. Co., 177 U. S. 51, 60-62.

"Merritt v. American, etc. Co., 79 Fed. 228, 231, opinion by Judge Thayer.

"Subsequent suits involving a subject matter involved in a prior suit pending in the same court should be brought as interventions in the prior suit.

Cases Are Consolidated.

"There is no objection to consolidating cases because one of the defendants in the same suit is not a party to the original suit.

"Bankers Trust Co. v. M. K. & T. Ry. Co., 251 Fed. 789, 793.

"The motions filed by these parties to consolidate are sustained, and they will be consolidated in one suit of Seaman vs. McCulloch et al. which will put the two cases all in one. No one is to be injured by it; no rights are prejudged. The rights of everyone will be determined upon a full, complete hearing of all the interests they have.

"There is no telling how many interventions there might be or would be made, so it is better to keep open every opportunity to file an intervention.

Every man who has a law suit for personal injuries might come here and intervene, and in that way multiply suit after suit. The object and purpose of the litigation should be, and is, as far as this court is concerned, to conserve the interests of everyone interested in this property—the bondholders, stockholders, general creditors, and all who are interested; to administer the estate in such a way that its assets will not be squandered by excessive allowances here or there, but to administer it economically for the benefit of the stockholders and for the benefit of all those interested in the property. It is a great property: a property valuable to those who own the shares of stock and the bonds; valuable to the public, valuable to the city of St. Louis, and possibly the only means of transportation for the greater majority of them is by what they have surrendered to this company in the shape of giving it the right to run over the streets of the city, and that interest can never be separated from the interest of other people. The people in this community will be concerned about the safety of the streets for the laying of street car tracks are interested, and if you undertake to ignore that interest you ignore one of the most important interests that there is to be consulted in matters of this kind. No one can be ignored.

Wells Receiver for All.

"Let this proceeding go on to a speedy conclusion. If these parties who are interested can get together, committees or associations, and adjust their differences, let them do it, but here no one may have the advantage over another; no privilege is given to one that is not accorded to the other. All of these interests are to be protected as they should be, by an economical administration of this property.

"The consolidation of these cases into one case necessitates a reappointment, or the appointment of a receiver already appointed in one particular case, or in another particular case as now consolidated, hereby appoint Rolla Wells as the receiver for all of this property, as I have heretofore appointed him in that one special case. I appoint him, as I did before, with implicit confidence in his ability, his integrity and his uprightness, to do exact justice to all persons interested, and I appoint him without requiring him to give a bond for the faithful performance came before him. I therefore appointed Judge Henry Lamm as the master in that case, and he has proceeded and partly heard the case. I now reappoint him as master in the consolidated case, and also Miss Cook, the stenographer, who was heretofore appointed, to take the evidences in the consolidated case.

"I have consulted with Mr. Rolla Wells with reference to the employment of counsel for him, and with his approval I appoint now Mr. Charles W. Bates as general counsel for the receiver.

"The order thus indicated will be entered in court today."

Says it is suicide to cut corns and tells how they lift right out.

You simply say to the drug store man: "Give me a quarter of an ounce of frezono." This will cost very little. It is sufficient to rub every hard or soft corn from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted out with the fingers without pain.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that while frezono is sticky it dries in a moment, and seems to simply shrivel up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whittling at his corns, but cut this out and make him try it.—ADV.

CHORAL CLUB'S VOICES
SURPASS ITS PROGRAM

Prosaic List of Numbers Pleasantly Sung—Carolina Lazzari as Soloist.

A large audience gathered at the Odeon last night for the Morning Choral Club's final concert of its twenty-eighth season, presenting as soloist Miss Carolina Lazzari, contralto, of the Chicago Opera Association.

The club personnel embraces some of the leading and best-trained female voices in the city, and the chorus is remarkable for melodiousness of blended tone, purity of pitch and adeptness of musicianship. These qualifications, worthy of coping with good music, aroused mingled pleasure and regret—that possibly owing to the dearth of first-class compositions for women's choruses, the program was mostly confined to musical prose. There were sentimental and romantic numbers, but they were couched in discourse rather than prosody of tones. This may account for the quality of the appearance which expressed friendliness and yet tenuity.

An exception should be made of H. Clough-Leigher's setting of Verlaine's poem, "The Mystic Hour," in which glowed the unmistakable spark of beauty. There was Bruno Huhn's meritorious setting of Walt Whitman's "The Unknown," and a cantata, in semi-recitative style, "The Legend of Miami," by Fontenailles, in which Miss Marie Becker, a club member, had an important soprano solo delivered in a voice sweet if not vivacious.

Other choruses were Arthur Foote's "The Green of Spring," Gelineau's "Kentucky Babe," which was repeated; Spross' "Will o' the Wisp," sung with some approaches to mercurial lightness; Chadwick's humorous "The Spring Beauties" and Herman's seasonal "Victors' Parade," celebrating the return of American soldiers.

Galloway's Refined Direction.

The singers gave to these songs such variations of mood and shadings of tempo and force as they required, showing especial charm in piano passages. Charles Galloway conducted artistically, displaying thought, taste and restraint. Whatever there was in the music he was able to bring forth. Mrs. Carl J. Luymes served in her capable style as piano accompanist. Mrs. Esmeralda Bernays played the organ accompaniment for some chorus and a violin obligato for another.

Miss Lazzari has sung once before in this city, but at some obscure event, so that this was her introduction to the larger public. Her singing made a curious impression; her voice is youthful and sometimes luscious, but with a queer lack of freshness; it gives at intervals an effect of power, without being dramatic. Her low register is the best, she seems well aware of it, judging by her pains to accentuate its chesty quality. There were occasional superb tones, mingled with others that were strained and off the pitch. She gave groups in Italian, French and English, with the aria "Liebt Sogno," from "The Huguenots," as her principal offering, and those well-tried warhorses, "Dawn in the Desert" and "Mighty Lak a Rose," as encores.

The singers gave to these songs such variations of mood and shadings of tempo and force as they required, showing especial charm in piano passages. Charles Galloway conducted artistically, displaying thought, taste and restraint. Whatever there was in the music he was able to bring forth. Mrs. Carl J. Luymes served in her capable style as piano accompanist. Mrs. Esmeralda Bernays played the organ accompaniment for some chorus and a violin obligato for another.

Miss Lazzari has sung once before in this city, but at some obscure event, so that this was her introduction to the larger public. Her singing made a curious impression; her voice is youthful and sometimes luscious, but with a queer lack of freshness; it gives at intervals an effect of power, without being dramatic. Her low register is the best, she seems well aware of it, judging by her pains to accentuate its chesty quality. There were occasional superb tones, mingled with others that were strained and off the pitch. She gave groups in Italian, French and English, with the aria "Liebt Sogno," from "The Huguenots," as her principal offering, and those well-tried warhorses, "Dawn in the Desert" and "Mighty Lak a Rose," as encores.

Another Service Chevron

FOR every thread in the chevrons of gold that adorn the sleeves of our fighting men, there are miles of weary marching through mud and dust and snow—for every glint that catches the sunlight, there are thousands of lonesome, wistful, homesick, tortured hours—for every atom of woven metal, there are tons of labor that you and I would scorn—back-breaking labor, tedious, perilous, soul-wearying labor.

Here's another service chevron—a chevron that says: "I'm one of the many who served America by lending her my dollars to wind up our war account. I volunteered for my part in making a permanent and just peace."

Subscribing to the Victory Liberty Loan is like carrying a wounded man to a dressing station—his fight is over, but your responsibility has not ended.

Mrs. Smith had been watching a revolver fight between two policemen and three men after the trio had April 29.

beaten Walter Braun, a nonunion driver employed by the St. Louis Dairy Co.

MAN WITH COUNTERFEIT MONEY WANTS TO RETURN TO PRISON

Prefers Penitentiary to Awaiting Trial in Jail Here on Government Charge.

Carl William Moss, recently paroled from the Chester (Ill.) penitentiary, at his hearing before United States Commissioner Atkins yesterday on a charge of attempting to pass a $1 Federal Reserve note which had been raised to $20, on Patrick Baldo, a saloon keeper, 32-year-old advocate, who was tried to the average, with a jury under $5,000 bond.

The statement made public at the White House, at the direction of the former President said, he could not consistently obstruct the working out of the treaty of peace, inasmuch as that country is dependent upon America financially and for foodstuffs and coal.

Taft in an address here yesterday outlined the proposed covenant of the league of nations and explained his belief in the practicability of the world society.

"The people of the country realize that our railways have practically reached the limit of their resources for public service and that navigable waterways must be used as a part of our transportation system," he said.

"We have the greatest natural waterways known in the world, but we have shamefully neglected to use them. We are the only country in the world that does not use its water highways."

He said the largest proportion of the exportable products of the country originate in the Mississippi and the Missouri River is the natural outlet to the sea for the shipment of these products. The people of the Mississippi Valley are now strongly insisting that these natural highways of commerce shall be promptly improved and put into service.

Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding Co.,

said: "As shipbuilding wages have gone up over 150 per cent and wages in the steel industry have risen approximately the same, the cost of steel vessels per ton will be two or three times the pre-war prices until the industrial conditions change."

Mrs. McLaran, who was 87 years old, was the widow of Charles Mclaran, a saloon keeper, 32 years old, and whose name was given to McLaran avenue and, within the past year, to

McLaran postal station, formerly

Baden, in extreme North St. Louis.

Stephen A. Connell, in charge of the Secret Service here, said the bill presented by Moss was a crude coun-terfeiter. He said also that Arthur

Weber, released from the penitentiary at the latter's trial, had been arrested in West Frankfort, Ill., on a charge of passing raised bills.

WANTS TO BE REINSTATED IN PEVELY FARM AND CATTLE CO.

W. C. Kerckhoff asks to be Restored as General Manager With Former Powers.

William C. Kerckhoff, yesterday filed suit to be reinstated as manager of the farm and cattle company from interfering with his right to sign checks and drafts issued against the funds of the corporation. He and his nephew, D. C. Kerckhoff, president of the Pevely Dairy Co., and a niece, Miss Viola Kerckhoff, are directors of the farm and cattle company. He avers that his nephew and niece last October removed him as manager, and also ended his authority to sign the checks and drafts.

He avers that his stock in this company is being depreciated in value because of the business of the Pevely Dairy Co. It is the sole owner, it is alleged. According to the plaintiff, products raised on the property of the farm and cattle company, of which is at Pevely, Mo., were denied to him for a receipt, and the dairy company, which a receiver is appointed, are sold to the other company below the market value.

D. C. Kerckhoff told a reporter that the two companies are separate corporations. He asserted that his uncle was removed as manager for sufficient reason, and that there was no need for a receiver for the farm and cattle company, the property of which is at Pevely. Mr. Kerckhoff denied that the dairy company bought supplies from the farm company at below market value.

DRUGGISTS DISCUSS NEW LAW

Wholesale Dealers in Two Days' Meeting in St. Louis.

The new war revenue measure and its relation to patent medicines, perfumes, cosmetics and other commodities of the drug trade was discussed yesterday afternoon at the opening of a two-day conference of wholesale druggists, representing the business of the entire Mississippi Valley, at the Planters Hotel.

In addition to the Mississippi Valley druggists, men of the trade from all sections of the United States are attending the conference. They are meeting in the general discussion of the new Federal laws, as applied in the respective territories.

A banquet and entertainment was given to the delegates last night, William J. Mooney of Indianapolis, presiding. At today's sessions general business of the conference was taken up. Tonight a meeting of the Board of Control of the National Wholesale Druggists' Association will be held.

BAKING POWDER, NOT ARSENIC

Man Rushed to Hospital Had Not Taken Poison.

Arthur Long, 21 years old, 810 Salsbury street, was arrested in a poolroom at 3526 North Broadway last night. He was accused of having informed he had made several threats to end his life in the place.

They found a loaded revolver in his pocket and started to the station with him. On the way Long drew paper from his pocket and swallowed what appeared to be a white powder.

"What's that?" the police asked. "Arsenic," he replied. He added he was separated from his wife and don't know where she is living longer. He was rushed to the city hospital. Doctors were unable to find any traces of poison. "Baking powder," they told the police. Long was held for observation.

STOP and consider the immensity of this poison! It is arsenic. The dimly straight-line furniture, featured by others, with a handsome MASSEY extra large set with many curves, are entirely upholstered in genuine brown Spanish morocco leather—divan open into full-size bed—canopy, corner armchair and side rocker to match.

SOLDIERS' AID BUREAUS WILL UNITE EFFORTS

All Here to Have Offices at 905 Locust Street, With Federal Examiner in Charge.

The Employment Bureau for Soldiers, Sailors and Marines was removed today from 902 Olive street to 905 Locust street, which is the headquarters of the War Camp Community Service, under a plan advocated by the Advertising Club of St. Louis to have all soldier welfare organizations co-operate directly with the employment bureaus.

Under the new plan, at the new location, representatives of the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A., the Vocational Bureau of the United States Army for rehabilitation of wounded soldiers, and the Information Bureau of the Government for men returning from the military service, will be in the same office as the Employment Bureau.

Plan Endorsed by C. of C.

This plan was endorsed yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce, which will also give its unqualified support to the employment bureau as the official employment service in St. Louis for soldiers, sailors and marines.

The representatives of the different organizations who will assist the employment service will be paid by their respective organizations. These representatives will assist Martin J. Walsh, Government examiner in charge, and his two Government assistants. The Advertising Club of St. Louis has consented to defray the cost of a stenographer.

John Ring, president of the Advertising Club, which maintained the bureau at 902 Olive street after Congress failed to make an appropriation for the Government Employment Service, said the bureau under the new plan would be assured ample support to function indefinitely, as large business interests of St. Louis are behind it.

The condition facing the returning soldiers is quite serious, and many "old-timers" are now called upon to register every available job at the new bureau. Thousands of additional men who must have jobs will return within the next few weeks, and it is absolutely urgent that extraordinary measures be adopted at once in connection with the employment service to prepare for these men."

Intensive Methods to Be Used.

Walsh said a comprehensive card index system would be used to classify and file the names of all large employers in St. Louis would be called daily on the telephone and appealed to to make room for a soldier in his organization. Similar intensive methods will be used in all other details of the work, he said.

"We have been placing about 60 men a day within the last week," Walsh said, "which is about 75 per cent of those seeking employment. This is a great factory, and we hope under the new community service organization to increase the percentage of placements."

Information concerning any branch of the war welfare service may be had at the new location.

The new bureau has been removed from the supervision of the Government Employment Service for civilians at 705 Market street, by arrangement with W. W. Brown, Federal Director of Employment for Missouri, with headquarters at Kansas City.

HOME-city, suburban or on the farm—are advertised in the POST-DISPATCH Real Estate columns.

FEDERAL EXAMINER SAYS
10,000 MEN ARE IDLE HERE

He Explains Washington Dispatch Stating That Labor Surplus
Here Had Disappeared

Although a dispatch from Washington, printed today in a morning newspaper, stated that employment conditions in St. Louis had reached a point where there was no labor surplus, Clyde Reed, examiner in charge of the United States Employment Service, 11 North Seventh street, asserted today that about 10,000 men in the city are still unemployed.

He said the report probably resulted from a recapitulation of reports sent weekly from all cities to Washington War Trade Board. The last report from the office sent Monday showed a surplus of 15,000 men, and was from estimates made by 101 employers of labor. Another report, made up from a canvass of union labor organizations, showed last week, Reed said, a surplus of approximately 10,000 men. This figure, he said, is unchanged today. An accurate view of the labor situation could be obtained, Reed said, only when the two reports were compared.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers; never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Cost of Pensions for Blind.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It pains me to question the truth of a statement made by the Governor of Missouri, but his statement, in explanation of the vetoing by him of the bill to pension blind Missourians that $1,000,000 annually would be required to comply with the provisions of the bill, is untrue.

The total blind population of Missouri is about 2300, of which at least one-fourth is children, who do not come under the pension law. A provision in the law requiring the applicant for a pension to produce his affidavit and an oculist's certificate to the effect that he has not to exceed 20-40 vision (and therefore is able to see virtually nothing in excess of light) bars from the pension all Missourians except about 1000. The cost would not be $1,000,000 a year, as Gov. Gardner states, but $180,000 a year, about $360,000 for the biennial period.

On War's Hardships.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I would like to know why they want to keep the soldiers in France after they won the war? My husband has been in France 15 months, and I got a letter this morning saying that he may not be sent home for six months or a year. We have two small children, and my little girl is sick, and I know her daddy's return would make her well, as she is broken-hearted. She is 10 years old, and as she is sick I am unable to work, which makes it almost unbearable to have to wait another year.

A BROKEN-HEARTED SOLDIER'S WIFE.

Jobs for Our Boys.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why all this pointing and circumstance on the part of the Government urging business men to "make a job for every fighter?" I notice in a recent newspaper item that the Government had set aside a certain Sunday to be devoted by the churches to employment. Let the Government and the Civil Service Commission act and weed out all those positions which were created during the war and which have now become superfluous. There are hundreds of girls and women there whose husbands have husbands to provide ample for them, and who really do not have to work) who are filling Government positions which well might be held by a returned service man.

What about the fellow who gave up his Government position to enlist for overseas service, and when the armistice was signed returned to claim his position and was told there was no vacancy? His was not war-time job, either. And what about the employer who spends $300 for a coat? Does she need to work or is she only working for "pin money?"

Congress, we're told, you took the boys away from their jobs, now that they have done "their bit," get away and give them work, not sympathy and charity. They're red-blooded Americans.

ONE FOR THE BOYS.

Good Friday.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It was, indeed, inspiring to see Good Friday observed to the extent of some of the stores closing from 12 to 3. Now this is a beginning and next year let Catholics and Protestants unite to make it one of the great days in the Christian year. If the schools won't close we can all keep our children home in the afternoon and attend church. As Christians we make much of Christmas, which is right, without death and resurrection—the Christians' hope of life eternal. We are all suffering today from the lack of Christ in men's hearts, and it's up to fathers and mothers to keep the children close to the church and its teachings; so let's send them to church next year, and all.

AN EPISCOPALIAN.

A 10 O'CLOCK Town.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I do not wish to tire the readers of this column with a subject that has no doubt become quite tiresome, yet my indignation needs outlet, and I ask you to print this:

Just after midnight of last Sunday I left a certain place for home, and the four-mile ride (demanding two transfers) consumed two hours' time; normally the trip is consummated in about 45 minutes.

Twenty-thirty a. m. is not an unusual hour considering it followed Saturday night; likewise midnight of Saturday and the wee hours following, and there should not have been this dearth of cars. This is not one occurrence, but of weekly regularity.

Is there a small wonder that a New Yorker, Bostonian, Chicagoan or the trooper suppresses a wifely smile when the St. Louisan on visit says in an accentuated tone that he hails from this Middle West metropolis?

THE ARTFUL MR. BURLESON.

Postmaster-General Burleson, with the acumen of a small politician playing the part of a big boss, tries to divert public attention from his own official delinquencies by charging the newspapers with a conspiracy to ruin him.

This is the ready device of the narrow, self-obsessed official mind to confuse the issue of wrongdoing and avert public condemnation. It is true, as he says, that the newspapers opposed his postal zone scheme and severely criticized it. They condemned him for initiating and urging the project, and justly so. It was a foolish measure to make revenue out of the postal service, regardless of consequences. In the most serious crisis in the history of the country, when the Government needed the widest newspaper circulation, this measure, designed to limit circulation and to turn the postal service into a commercial enterprise, was jammed through by Mr. Burleson. It was one of his worst blunders and one of the worst that a postal head could commit.

To charge, however, that on account of this blunder the newspapers conspired to ruin him is ridiculous. As well charge a newspaper conspiracy against Congress because the newspapers condemn its mistakes and follies.

Assuming the truth of such a preposterous thing—it is news to the editors of newspapers—what has such a conspiracy to do with the stupendous blunder and glaring act of censorship tyranny committed by Mr. Burleson's subordinates when they refused to transmit a schedule of the New York World's article exposing and criticizing the Postmaster-General's official record and political mistakes?

What has the charged conspiracy to do with the admitted order, under which these subordinates acted, to refuse libelous matter, making subordinate telegraph officials the judges of libel—an intolerable censorship, proven so by their application of the rule to legitimate criticism of their chief?

What has the charged conspiracy to do with the charges of unfitness, official tyranny and folly and political meddling and blundering made against Mr. Burleson himself? Their truth or falsity is the only question that concerns the public. If they are true, a newspaper conspiracy against him does not justify his conduct. It tends to justify the "conspiracy."

Mr. Burleson is in desperate straits when he feels impelled to resort to film-flat of this kind to defend himself. It ought not to fool President Wilson. It ought to strengthen the conviction that he is the wrong man for the Postmaster-Generalship. Neither Mr. Burleson nor the Wilson administration can be saved from public judgment by such flimsy evasion.

The Big Four decided against them and the Italians flimed.

A COMPENSATION LAW AT LAST.

Through the reasonable attitude of labor representatives, Missouri is enabled to take at least one step forward and put behind it the compensation issue, which has clomed with almost wearisome repetition for settlement during the past seven or eight years. The bill they favored was set aside by the Senate, which passed a substitute lacking in some provisions labor regarded as important. Acceptance of this substitute in the House attested to a desire for progress somewhat in contrast with the attitude of the opponents of the original measure.

It may be pointed out that most of the states which now have the benefit of a compensation system obtained their first law on the subject by compromise, adding later some of the features now strongly urged for Missouri. There are hundreds of girls and women there who have husbands to provide amply for them, and who really do not have to work) who are filling Government positions which well might be held by a returned service man.

As We Get It, Cliff Heathcote's Play Was a Concrete Example of a 'Boner'

World's Champion 'Boner' Ruins Fine Game for Sherdel

Cards' Chances Spoiled When Heathcote Runs Back to First on Triple.

STEELE OFFERED RICKEY

Knot-Holers' Manager, However, Wires McGraw That He Cannot Use Him.

By W. A. Phelon,
Sports Editor Cincinnati Times-Star.
CINCINNATI, April 25.—There hasn't been anything at Redland Field in a dozen years as interesting as the bone-head play which knocked the Cardinals out of at least a tied score in their second game of the series which the Reds finally won, 3 to 1, yesterday. It was one gibbering screech, and those who saw it will cackle and chortle to their dying day.

But if it didn't impress Branch Rickey as even semi-humorous, The kindly chief of the Cardinals said after all, was all over, that he never swore, but that he could understand why violent language occasionally gave solace and relief to troubled mind.

There are half a dozen versions of the thing as it occurred, but Pat Moran's explanation, backed up by the perpetrator of the jest, one Morris Rath, is probably the most authentic of them all.

In the third inning, with one down, young Clifton Heathcote—oh, the romantic devil! Doesn't that sound just like movie hero?—belted a heady triple. Rogers Hornsby followed with another triple that curved over the outfield and fell in the extreme suburbs. It was an easy triple, if not a clean home run.

Heathcote "loses His Head."

Young Clifton Heathcote started to go around. Morris Rath sprang up before him and gave a pantomimic imitation of a man catching a ball. Heathcote, meaning to reverse the intellect of young Clifton Heathcote, briefly, his brains became scrambled. Back he went to first in headlong flight and stumbled forward, just as he was along the trail. Heathcote and Hornsby held wild debate about the right of way, and the ball kept coming in from the far-off outfield. At last the maddest of the two, Heathcote, who could not advance or came on, ran around him and hurried down the line. Heathcote then ran back to second base. The ball arrived at this juncture and the home guard jabbed it into the hands of both Cardinal runners. As soon as W. Byron could recover from a violent attack of hysterical laughter, he declared that Mr. Hornsby was out for passing Mr. Heathcote on the line.

Score Would Have Been Tied.

That mighty hit would have scored young Clifton Heathcote and long fly, which Gene Paulette emitted an hour later, would have scored Mr. Heathcote, meaning two runs and a not score, on the afternoon, of 3 to 2. Is it any wonder that Branch Rickey waited and called all the gods of high Olympus to witness that he can't think of even a better?

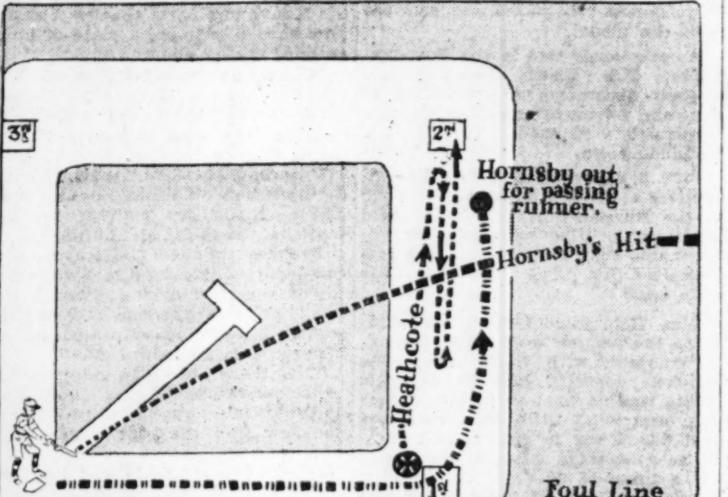

Only one other time in recent years has that kind of a trick been pulled at Redland field, and on the previous occasion it was a boomerang. When the Browns had been led off first strip in 1914, it so happened that there was a Red runner on first when an easy pop fly curved over the outfield. To lure the runner to his doom, the Boston infield initiated an attempt to score. The runner had to leave the runner, he went right down the line, and it also fooled the Boston right fielder. He stood still in his tracks, and the ball, descending, hit him, among the feet.

Two Defeats for Sherdel.

All Sherdel is sore at fate, himself and the universe. It's pretty tough to be officially charged with two defeats in two days, and right at the opening of the season, too.

The Play That Beat the Cards, as Perpetrated by Heathcote

A described in news accounts, Heathcote, in the above play, was standing on first base when Hornsby hit to right center, his drive seeming to be good for at least a triple. The play was in front of Heathcote, who could see it was a double. As he dashed toward second, he was bluffed out of tagging the sack when a Cincinnati infielder pretended to catch a throw from the outfield. He turned and ran back toward first. Hornsby dashing past him. This automatically retired
